First Object Found is 20-lb
Aluminum Gasoline
Tank

FOUND BY DESTROYER

Spare Radio Transmitter
Power Tube Also Located

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Apr. 6.—The first fragments of the ill-fated dirigible Akron which crashed early Tuesday with the loss of 73 lives, were found today 50 miles southeast of the craft's position when she went down, by destroyers accompanying the navy cruiser "Portland," the Navy Department reported today.

These fragments will be assembled at Lakehurst by Commander James L. Fischer and will be presented as exhibits to the Naval Board of Inquiry ordered to sit on Monday.

The first object, believed to have been a part of the Akron, was a 20-lb aluminum gasoline tank, empty, and bearing a serial number. It was discovered by the Navy destroyer Barnard, after receiving the Portland's message, the Aeronautics Division of the Navy stated the tank "undoubtedly is one from the Akron."

Other objects found near the spot where the tank was discovered included a spare radio transmitter power tube, intact and in its shipping crate; a life raft from the airplane compartment of the Akron; some wood fragments, apparently from the Akron, and a bumper bag from the car of the Blimp J-3.

The J-3 dropped into the ocean off the Jersey coast Tuesday afternoon while searching for survivors of the Akron. Two of her crew drowned.

Lansdale Reduces School Teachers' Salaries

LANSDALE, Apr. 6.—Voting an economy program, Lansdale School Board approved reductions in budget appropriations and ordered a two-mill tax cut.

The next tax rate is twenty-eight mills. The two-mill reduction carries with it a saving of $8,000 to the taxpayers.

In absorbing reduced State appropriations of $10,287.08 during the past year and the possibility of another slash of $3929.13, the board economized to the extent of $14,215.21. This amount, together with additional reductions agreed upon last night, is equivalent to a six-mill tax.

The largest budget slash was under Item B, regulating teachers' salaries. This item was reduced $10,164.50 and another cut of $1295 in the salaries of janitors and other employees was effected bringing the total reduction to $11,459.50. This is a saving of slightly more than ten per cent.

With a few exceptions the board followed a plan of providing five per cent reductions in salaries of men teachers with families and for widows supporting children. Ten per cent reductions were voted in salaries in excess of $1500 for all other teachers and a five per cent reduction in all salaries of $1500 or less.

The tax collector's commission was reduced from two per cent to one and three-quarters per cent. This year the collector will receive approximately $2800 while his fee during the coming year will amount to about $2275.

Ralph R. Smith, superintendent of schools, who is under contract for another year at a salary of $5500, volunteered to take a cut of $500.

Hollywood Elopers

Looking mighty pleased with themselves, Alice Joyce, celebrated screen actress, and her new hubby, Clarence Brown, movie director, told the cameraman to go ahead and do his darndest. They were secretly wed in Virginia City, Nev., recently, after a quiet exit from Hollywood by train. Foggy weather prevented a romantic aerial elopement as had been planned by Brown, an experienced flyer.

LEGISLATURE AT ODDS ON BEER CONTROL

By William J. Kelly

(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

HARRISBURG, Apr. 6.—(INS)—On the eve of the return of legalized beer, Pennsylvania's General Assembly today stood at the parting of the ways as to how manufacture and sale of the foamy fluid should be controlled.

Hopes of having a law to stem the tide of the 3.2 beverage waned as the Senate prepared to act on final passage of the Sowers-Conner regulatory measure. As the zero hour approached, the body appeared badly split over the issue, radically amended on its speedy journey through legislative halls.

The bill, in its present form, faces a certain veto from Gov. Gifford Pinchot. If amended again, it cannot be passed finally at the closing session of the week.

Consequently, Pennsylvania will have its beer, unrestricted by state taxation, after a 13-year thirst.

The fate of the regulatory measure

FARM RELIEF BILL TO OPEN BATTLE IN SENATE

Republican Minority Declares
War On Billion-Dollar
Bill

A PARTY CONFERENCE

WASHINGTON, Apr. 6.—(INS)—The first major legislative battle of the new Congress opened in the Senate today with the Republican minority declaring war on the administration's billion-dollar farm relief bill.

The Republicans were called into party conference this morning to adopt battle plans. They proposed to fight passage of the bill, which the administration drafted to increase farm prices from $800,000,000 to $1,000,000,000 a year.

The Democratic leadership, armed by the overwhelming majority in the Senate, predicted its prompt passage. They hazarded a prediction it would be enacted by the middle of next week.

The bill carried a host of sections, proposing different plans for increasing farm prices. In addition, it carried as a "rider" the administration's farm mortgage relief bill, which would authorize the Government through different agencies to refinance farm mortgages and extend new credit to farmers.

Feminine Fans Line Up To See Clark Gable Picture

Every woman's man, Clark Gable, is starred in "No Man of Her Own," current offering at the Grand Theatre tonight and Friday.

Borrowed from his own company, Metro, by Paramount especially for this picture, Gable proves the wisdom of the choice by tucking the film under his arm and walking off with it, although he is given quite sturdy opposition for the honors by his leading women, Carole Lombard and Dorothy Mackall.

Gable will add to his legion of admirers in this one. His work in the role of Jerry "Babe" Stewart, big-time gambler and connoisseur of feminine charm, is top-notch. Perhaps it is because of the steady sureness of that grand little trouser, Dorothy Mackall, who in this one has a fiery role slightly reminiscent of the part she played in her highly-successful "Safe in Hell."

ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION TO MEET

All members of St. Ann's Athletic Association are requested to be present at the club rooms tonight.

MISSIONARY PLAY, "THE HOLY TREE," DEALING WITH PROBLEMS OF WOMEN IN INDIA, PRESENTED AT A MEETING OF WOMEN'S MISSIONARY SOCIETY

At First Session of North
Phila. Ass'n. of Baptist Churches

TWO HUNDRED PRESENT

Speeches To Be Made At Afternoon Meeting Today,
Baptist Church

A missionary play, "The Holy Tree," written by a woman of India, and dealing with problems of Indian women, was one of the main features of the initial session of the Women's Missionary Society of the North Philadelphia Association of Baptist Churches, in the First Baptist Church, this morning. The morning meeting, the first of two here today, was attended by approximately 200 women, representing the more than 30 churches in the convention area.

The play, "The Holy Tree," followed the business session and reports of the heads of the several departments. The production was participated in in a commendable manner by women of the North Frankford Baptist Church.

Mrs. Earl Breeding, Oak Lane, president of the Society, was in charge of the transaction of business, and called for numerous reports bearing on various phases of missionary endeavor.

The women were asked to not feel that all is lost in these turbulent times, but to pray and work for the right, knowing that right will win in the end.

The topic for the day is "A Pair of Missionary Spectacles," and by using the bi-focal lenses the subject today anticipates the June meeting of the society to occur at Point Pleasant on the first instant. Today the distant view is seen, while in June the home missions will be stressed. "It is necessary to see distances as well as things about us," said the president.

Announcements were made regarding the house party at Camp Unami in June, and of the Chambersburg house party June 29th to July 7th.

A vocal duet "Saviour Thy Dying Love" was given by Mrs. John Weik and Mrs. Joseph Talbot, with Miss Rae Vandegrift at the organ.

The recently re-organized Women's Missionary Society of the First Baptist Church is acting as hostess to the group today. The second session will commence at 1.45, following luncheon in the social hall of the church.

Also scheduled on today's program is an address by Mrs. Charles Gauger on "Our Distant Responsibilities." Mrs. Howard Wayne Smith will tell of "Women in Faraway Lands."

COMMUNICATION

Editor Courier:

Sir:

"Parsifal," the consecration drama, the drama of Godly desire, the drama of suffering and anguish, the drama of Crucifixion and glorification, was given in a new form to us, this year, at the Academy of Music, by the Philadelphia Orchestra directed by Leopold Stokowski.

The idea of interpreting the music of such a work with the singing of the principal parts and chorus in concert form, in the mind and scope of Stokowski, might have been excellent. But the effect, with due regard and high respect to him who led, with respect to the good singing and with respect to the laudatory writings of almost all the commentators and musical critics of Philadelphia, (who usually take things for granted), for me and for quite a number of lovers of music, was entirely out of place and ruinous.

It should not have been given in that form, for the music of a masterpiece as "Parsifal," all mystical, symbolic and poetic in its highest spiritual and religious meaning, should have been played alone—played alone, without any sort of singing, by the orchestra led by the great conductor.

"Parsifal," perhaps the most touching and beautiful legend set to music, and what music!—should be given, always, either in the proper complete dramatic form as the Metropolitan Opera Company of New York gives it in America, and other famous operatic companies elsewhere, or in the pure symphonic manner. And in that last event, God! O God, what an aesthetic effect, what heavenly rapture, what deep emotion it would have arisen in us! What a paradise on earth to hear such a music undisturbed in the most profound silence!

Then, and then alone, we could fully estimate and enjoy the grandeur and the exaltation of the music of "Parsifal," the music that is full of majestic significance in picturing and describing in the most glorious way the sacrifice and the passion of our Lord.

HOPE FOR BODY RECOVERY

New York City, Apr. 6.—The Navy's chief hope for recovery of the bodies of the 71 missing officers and men who lost their lives in the crash of the Akron, were pinned today on the naval salvage ship "Falcon," which was steaming to the scene of the crash.

While scores of surface ships and airplanes of the naval and coast-guard service continued to comb an area of 700 square miles of Atlantic Ocean off the New Jersey coast for bodies or wreckage of the giant dirigible, the Falcon will search the under sea area at the scene of the crash.

Grappling irons and deep-sea divers will be used in the sub-sea search.

WATCH BEER'S RETURN

Washington, D. C., Apr. 6.—Enforcement officials in the Treasury and Department of Justice, watched the return of beer with keen interest today, giving chief attention to its effect on the violation of the unmodified section of the Volstead act.

Director A. V. Dalmryple of the Bureau of Prohibition, asserted that enforcement of the law against violators who produce and distribute "hard" liquors will be simplified by the legalization of light wines and beers.

The Bureau will concentrate on the more serious violators of the law with the belief that the manufacturers and smuggling of heavy liquors may be suppressed to a considerable extent.

Other officials were dubious. They take the attitude that the generations that have "come on" since the 18th amendment went into the Constitution, have acquired a taste for the powerful synthetic whiskey and gin of the prohibition period, and will not be satisfied with a comparatively gentle kick that recoils in a bottle of 3.2 percent beer or wine.

AUDIENCE TOLD SCHOOL EXPENSES CAN'T BE CUT

DOYLESTOWN, Apr. 6.—Declaring that the high schools—free American institutions of learning—are in danger today on account of proposed legislation which regards them as economic burdens, Dr. J. Herbert Kelley, executive secretary of the State Education Association, Tuesday evening pleaded for their maintenance despite the economic pressure. "You can't put your high school students to work; there are no jobs for groupings let alone children of the high school age."

Addressing more than six hundred parents—guests of the Village Improvement Association and Doylestown School Welfare Association—he explained in detail the crisis the schools are now passing through. Realizing that the schools of the nation were facing a crisis, President Hoover called a conference to devise means of meeting it. Franklin Spencer Edmonds served as the representative from Pennsylvania.

BEWARE OF TOO RICH A MIXTURE

Drink and be merry, but beware of too rich a mixture of alcohol and gasoline.

This warning came from the State Highway Patrol today as a thirsty populace awaited the stroke of midnight to taste the potency of 3.2 percent beer.

Members of the patrol are not interested in the decision of Federal authorities that the beer is non-intoxicating; their concern is drunken drivers, regardless of the cause of the intoxication. Superintendent Wilson G. Price announced today, "All will be arrested."

There are no indications of a beer drought in Bristol, tomorrow, when it becomes legal to sell beer of 3.2 percent alcohol. It is reported on good authority, but not officially, that many here have paid the three months Federal tax to dispense the beverage.

So far as it is known now, the Federal tax is the only tax which must be paid until such time as legislation is enacted by the State and signed by the Governor.

While numerous municipalities have levied a license fee upon those desiring to sell beer, Bristol borough council is not exacting any tribute from those who have stated that they will sell beer, beginning tomorrow.

Federal licenses issued have been granted until June 30th, on a proportionate three-months basis fee. Beginning next July the licenses will be issued for the fiscal year or until June 30, 1934. Applications for these licenses are being received by John Y. Turner, local internal revenue collector for Bucks County at his offices in the Bristol post office building.

Mr. Turner is not permitted to name those who have applied for the permits and therefore no list is available from an official source. The headquarters of the internal revenue district in Philadelphia post office building, also stated that the law forbids

UP TO FRANCE

American public opinion undoubtedly will support the intimation by Secretary Hull to France that the United States is not prepared to treat with the French government, in the matter of war debts, on the same basis as with Great Britain.

This attitude is due to the fact that France defaulted on its installment of $19,000,000 due last December while Britain paid the $95,000,000 due from her at the same time. The fact that the latter was off the gold standard and her finances were in bad shape did not prevent her from making settlement. France was in a much better condition to pay her installment. She had on hand a huge stock of gold.

If France and the other nations which defaulted when they could have paid are to be treated on a par with Great Britain, it is up to them to correct their delinquencies by paying the installments overdue, or at least making a sincere effort to do this.

The United States has begun preliminary discussions with England looking to a settlement of the debts problem as affecting that country. That a satisfactory settlement will be reached there seems no reason to doubt, although the negotiations may be long and complicated.

World conditions demand that the entire question of war debts be disposed of as quickly as possible. Great Britain and the United States recognize this. France and the other defaulters can assist the process by doing their parts.

NO NEED OF ANXIETY

We believe the public shares the confidence in President Roosevelt expressed by National Commander Johnson of the American Legion, with respect to reductions in veterans' benefits.

"I have the utmost confidence in President Roosevelt's fairmindedness," said Mr. Johnson. "I don't believe for a moment that his efforts toward economy will cause him to cripple the work that is being done to help casualties—those for whom the war will never end."

The movement aimed at reducing the huge burden placed upon the public in financing payments to veterans never had as one of its purposes denying of just compensation to former soldiers who were crippled or otherwise injured as a direct result of their services in the war. The nation, without any important exception, recognizes the justness of a policy which will see that these men receive proper care and attention. They deserve it and the public wants them to have it.

But huge sums now are going to men who never were wounded or otherwise injured as result of their war service. The justness of this can not be recognized. It is against payments to these that was aimed the storm of protest which compelled Congress, lacking courage itself to take the action, to delegate to Mr. Roosevelt the task of ridding the present pension system of some of its evils.

There can be no question of the President's sympathy for the men really deserving of governmental aid. We believe the Legion and the other friends of these victims of war need have no anxiety along this line.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning 'Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul. A skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get those two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resist a substitute. 25c at all stores. ©1931 C. M. Co.

"MARY FAITH" by Beatrice Burton

SYNOPSIS

Mary Faith, young and comely fiancée of Kimberley Ferrell, handsome blond youth, just out of law school, leaves her position as secretary to the wealthy Mark Nesbit to marry "Kim." Mary Faith receives a note from Kim's mother inviting her to dinner. Arriving late, due to Kim's delay, Mary Faith is greeted coolly by Mrs. Farrell. Suddenly there is a crash and scream from the kitchen and Kim calls to Mary Faith. Mrs. Farrell had knocked over a pot of coffee slightly burning herself. The unpleasant attitude of Kim's mother proves to Mary Faith that she does not favor the marriage. Driving home, Mary Faith realizes a mother's feelings in giving up her only son.

CHAPTER V

"Mary Faith, I've been thinking over something that you said a while ago," Kim remarked over the pot roast and browned potatoes that Agnes, the red-headed waitress, set before him.

He frowned down at his plate as he spoke. "You said that two women who care for the same man usually hate each other. . . . Well, I think there's a lot of truth in that. There's a girl at the office—just a kid—really—I've driven her home in my car once or twice—and tonight—"

Mary Faith laid down her fork. Her eyes, steady and brilliant, searched his face.

"And tonight you drove her home," she said. "That's why you were late, wasn't it?"

Kim nodded, helping himself to red currant jelly.

"She lives out this way," he explained. "Well, anyway, I told her that I was thinking about getting married—and gosh, but I certainly was surprised at the way she took it—"

"He stopped again, struggling to find words for what he was trying to tell her.

She saw him struggling and came to his help.

"I can imagine how she took it," she said with the peculiar second-sight of the woman who is in love. "She probably told you that she cared for you, herself, and hated the girl you were going to marry. . . . wasn't that it?"

His blond head jerked in a quick nod.

"That was just about it," he admitted. "But I didn't know until tonight that she felt that way about me. I swear I didn't."

"Did you spend last Sunday with her, Kim?"

He was silent for a minute. And when he finally did open his lips to answer Mary Faith stopped him.

"No. Never mind. Don't tell me any more about her, Kim," she said. "It makes me unhappy to hear about her. I'm going to forget her."

She was not going to be like Mrs. Dan Bassett, she reminded herself for the second time that night. She wasn't going to start now to be jealous and suspicious. . . . If Kim didn't care for her he surely would not have asked her to marry him on the first of October, would he? He must have known this girl who worked in his office a long time.

She leaned forward and emptied the little glass dish of currant jelly on his plate. Like most men, Kim had a sweet tooth.

"Women will always make a great fuss over you, Kim. It's your fatal beauty," she chaffed him, smiling across the table into his eyes. "I've just made up my mind not to pay any attention to them. I'm going to be a good wife, but I absolutely refuse to be a jealous one."

At nine o'clock she sent him home to his mother.

"She's sure to be feeling blue and

"Why, it's all up to you, Kim," she found her voice at last.

down-hearted," she told him when he had finished his coffee and was hunting through his pockets for a cigarette, "and it will cheer her up to have you come home early. After all, Kim, it must be hard for a woman to give up her only son—and that's what she thinks she's doing."

She walked with him out to his little roadster.

The yellow leaves on the trees beside the lamp post hung as motionless as if they were painted on a screen.

The stars were still very bright and large. But somehow they seemed farther away than they had two hours before. . . .

"What a night for a drive!" Kim said. "Gosh, what a night!"

Mary Faith did not answer him. She only half heard him.

She stood looking at the little car. . . . How many times had he driven that girl home in it? Mary Faith wondered. How many times had she sat there beside him in the shabby leather seat?

"Good night, Kim, I must go in. It's cold out here," she said dully.

He put his arms around her. At his contact all the vague little doubts that had been in her mind a second before left it. The familiar odor of his tweed coat, his cigarettes and the shaving soap he used brought back a hundred comforting memories to her. . . . This was Kim who had loved her for years and was going to marry her on the first of October. On the Saturday after next.

She drew his face down to hers and he kissed her. Then he got into his car.

"Good night," he said.

"Good night, Kim."

Then, as she was turning to go up the steps of the house, he called her back to him.

"Mary Faith, how do you really feel about this first of October business now that you've had a chance to think it over?" he asked bluntly.

"With my mother feeling about it

Former Bristol Man
Wed in Wissinoming

Miss Nellie Hancock, Wissinoming, as bridesmaid; Miss Elizabeth Boardman, Torrendale, flower-girl.

Serving the groom as best man was Franklin C. Smith, Bristol; and the ushers were J. William Hardy, Bristol; and Albert Bauers, Frankford.

The bride was charming in a gown of white bridal satin, fashioned on Princess lines. Her tulle veil trimmed with lace was made with a lace coronet. She carried a shower bouquet of white calla lilies and snapdragons.

The dresses worn by the maid of honor and the bridesmaids were fashioned on Princess lines and trimmed with a ruffled cape of the material. Miss Wiley was attired in yellow crepe, with slippers and small crepe hat with veil to match, and carried a bouquet of yellow roses and delphinium. Mrs. Baxter wore pale blue; Miss Hancock wore pale pink. Mrs. Baxter and Miss Hancock each carried arm bouquets of spring flowers. The flower girl was attired in a pale shade of green. She carried a basket of yellow and pink roses.

A reception was held at the church following the ceremony, then a reception for the members of the bridal party and relatives at the home of the bride. The couple left last evening for several days' trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Bailey will make their home in Wissinoming.

ATTEND AUXILIARY MEETING

Beer Goes On Sale Here
Tomorrow; No Restrictions

making public the names of those who have applied for the licenses.

In a canvass of the former saloon proprietors of Bristol it was found that several of them are undecided just what action to take in order to reopen their establishments.

Most of them are marking time and awaiting developments at Harrisburg. Only two stated definitely that they plan to reopen their places for the dispensing of beer, tomorrow. These two were the Coleman House and the Bristol House. Others said they were not sure just what to do and would await developments.

J. S. Fine, Market street, announced that he would act as wholesaler for the Schmidt Brewery in Philadelphia.

Two local clubs have taken out Federal licenses and it is also rumored that numerous other licenses have been granted to grocers, store keepers of various kinds and to a number of individuals who have been reputed to have been selling illegally, previous to the passing of the beer bill.

Township Supervisors
Take Over Steele Ave.

VanSant. The action was started in 1928 and since that time has been continued from term to term.

The plaintiff complains in the bill that he is the owner of 2.11 acres of land purchased from the widow and heirs of Ambrose M. Moyer, deceased, on May 24, 1922. The land is now a part of the Trevoise tract.

Roescher testified that on the east side of the street—Ridge avenue—there is a water course to which he claims the use for the purposes of watering his stock and other domestic purposes, and that up until the time of filing the bill, the water was pure and fit for agricultural and domestic purposes.

On June 4, 1928, the Trevoise tract was placed in control of the supervisors of Bensalem township and on August 29, 1928, according to Roescher, one of the defendants, Jacob Weiler, changed the water course by digging a ditch along the property, causing the water from other sources to drain on the Roescher property.

The plaintiff further testified that the creek, water from which is furnished by several springs, now carries drainage from cesspools and that the spring water is rendered dangerous for man and beast and wholly destroyed for domestic purposes. Certain pipes were laid by the defendants, the plaintiff avers, that contributed to the cause for complaint.

The plaintiff asks the Court to issue an injunction restraining further changes and compelling the defendants to remove the pipes that have already been laid.

At a hearing in juvenile court before Judge Keller, disposition of the case of Conroy Kleopfer, 13, a criminally demented youth, ward of a Doylestown township home for children, was continued until a further investigation can be conducted by Miss Gertrude Bright, county probation officer. Kleopfer broke into two homes last week and stole considerable belongings after ransacking both houses.

"Hell's Kitchen" would blow off the top of one vigorous whiff at the foam at the top of brimming steins, to the accompaniment of brass bands, parades, and nocturnal festivities. They believe this is an occasion which should be duly celebrated with dance and song.

The brewers, hotel men and restaurateurs frown upon such festivities. They would have no especial notice taken of the reappearance of the amber fluid in the city after a legal absence of 13 years. In the words of Col. Jacob Ruppert, head of the Ruppert Breweries and president of the United States Brewers' Association, beer should be "delivered just as food and soft drinks are distributed, starting Friday morning at the usual business hour."

the fundamentals of education. An indication of the strides made by teachers—who were characterized as having made real investments to make good—is shown that in 1921 when the Edmonds act came into being, 47 percent of the teachers in Pennsylvania met the minimum standard requirements while today (1933) 98 percent measure up.

"Aware of the crisis, the teachers decided to take steps to reduce their salaries. If the rest of the officials in public life did the same," he said. "Defining education as the spreading of a net to catch our impressions and make them meaningful, Dr. Kelley stated some of the three R's are greatly over-rated. 'How much arithmetic do you use in everyday life? Beside the four simple operations—addition, subtraction, division and multiplication—you may never in your day's work be called upon to use your knowledge of geometry, or any of the other higher branches of mathematics.'" Music, according to Dr. Kelley, compares favorably with the three R's from the standpoint of social living. Dr. Kelley congratulated Doylestown for its fine school system. "It may interest you to know that during the World War statistics show that 24.9 percent—almost a quarter of the men drafted for army service—failed the simple physical and literacy exams."

"The literacy test included two things—the ability to read a newspaper and the capacity to write a letter home. One out of every five were rejected because they failed to qualify for the physical test. That was before 1921," said Dr. Kelley.
